- a. Guest Speaker & Improv Activity: Logan Martin, City Administrator

Logan Martin shared insights into his responsibilities and daily experiences as the City Administrator for Rosemount. Now in his tenth year with the city, he expressed how much he values his coworkers, enjoys engaging with residents, and appreciates that no two days are ever the same. Logan also spoke about his passion for improv and how he incorporates its principles both at work and in his personal life. He introduced us to the concept of "Yes, and..." and emphasized the importance of active listening. To bring these ideas to life, we participated in group improv exercises together.

- b. Leadership Workbook, Chapter 3; Effective Communication

Deputy Clerk Saunders and Mr. Martin guided the Commissioners through Chapter 3 of their workbook, Effective Communication. As part of the session, Commissioners completed a communication styles quiz to identify whether their approach is Passive, Aggressive, Passive-Aggressive, or Assertive. Each style was discussed in detail, exploring which traits felt relatable and which patterns we aim to avoid. The conversation naturally connected back to the improv activity from earlier in the meeting, reinforcing the importance of adaptability and active listening in communication.

c. Roundtable Discussion

Youth Commissioners shared updates on their extracurricular involvement, work, homework load, and registering for classes for 2026-2027.
